Serving the Bible-believing Christians of the World

Be Careful Who You Pray With

One of the pope's major victories in the "journey to ecumenism" was seducing Billy Graham to believe that Catholics are Christians.

Will the Moderate Muslim Please Stand Up

Six days after the destruction of the world trade center towers, President Bush visited the Islamic Center in Washington "to denounce incidents of prejudice against Muslim Americans." He was attempting to defuse the national outrage against the attackers and prevent a violent backlash against Muslims living in America.

Since then, government leaders and the media have worked hard at establishing in our minds that most Muslims are peace-loving and the terrorists are fringe extremists.

But the line between the two remains very blurred. "Unfortunately, it is not so easy to find Muslim leaders who have genuinely

In Pope Benedict's general audience January 23, his theme was the "necessity" of prayer for Christian unity. His speech was made to highlight a long-held Catholic celebration called the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity.

Observance of the Week of Prayer was started in 1908 by American Anglican Paul Wattson who later converted to Catholicism. In 1916 Pope Benedict XV made it an official annual observance for the entire Catholic Church. Later the World Council of Churches joined the observances along with other organizations that are focused on promoting ecumenism, an effort to bring all the Christian churches and organizations together.

In the speech, the pope emphasized "forcefully the role and importance of prayer, which lies at the very heart of the ecumenical journey." This "ecumenical journey" starts with Christ's prayer in John 17 "that they all may be one." The "journey" that the pope is talking about does not lead to the unity that Jesus was

Pro-Aborts and Sodomites to Spend Millions On Election

In this election year, it is essential that we remember that, "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people." (Proverbs 14:34) In the middle of the 20th century, a move began to enshrine sinful behavior into the laws of the land. The first great victory came with the Roe v. Wade court case that made abortion legal in all 50 states. Later, human rights laws were hijacked to protect the sin of sodomy. Freedom of speech laws were turned on their heads to bless pornography and profanity.

Along with legalization, came the breakdown of cultural protections of modesty, respect for authority, family unity, honesty and decency in the media, and diligence in labor. Now we see rich and powerful forces rising up to protect the legal right to these sins.

One of these forces is the Planned Parenthood Federation of America. Alarmed by a continual erosion of public approval for abortion, they are committing millions of dollars to electing officials who will continue protecting their sin. Using the internet, they and their pro-abortion allies such as EMILY's List.org and NARAL Pro-Choice America (NARAL.org) intend to commit nearly $70 million to elect pro-abortion candidates.

The people are beginning to catch on to the horrors of abortion and the pro-aborts are on the run. However, there is another legal sin equally abominable in God's eyes. That is sodomy. Claiming equal rights with race and ethnicity, the homosexuals have bulldozed their agenda into approval by legislatures and the high courts. This confusion has been legalized to invade our schools from kindergarten through universities. Hollywood is also gung-ho in cramming this abomination down our throats.

So what's a soul winner to do? The founding fathers gave us the privilege of voting against these evils and we dare not ignore that right or we will soon lose it. In addition, they gave us the freedom to tell people about God's opinion of these sinful

Code of Conduct on Conversions Threatens Soul Winning

Frustrated by the loss of members, particularly in Latin America, the Vatican has launched a subtle attack on soul winners. It is in the form of a push for an international "code of conduct on conversions." The goal is to "ease tensions with Muslims, Hindus and other religious groups who fear losing adherents and resort to punishments as extreme as imprisonment and even death for converts from their faith, as well as attacks on foreign missionaries."

The World Council of Churches (WCC) has joined with the pope to attempt to draft a code that will lay ground rules for "proselytizing." They convened a meeting in May, 2006, with representatives of all the major world religions, Buddhist, Hindu Muslim, Jewish and indigenous traditions. This first meeting was a study group to begin the dialog that they hoped would lead to a code of conduct spelling out commonly agreed ethics of conversion.

Delegates were concerned about the rapid growth of evangelical Christianity worldwide. Some governments see this growth as a threat to their national culture and are already passing anti-conversion laws and looking the other way when missionaries or local converts are attacked.

Initial working papers affirmed the "fundamental, inviolable and non-

Evolution Under Attack In Europe

The dispute over the teaching of evolution in schools has spread to Europe. The Parliamentary Assembly of the Council of Europe recently condemned efforts to teach creationism in schools. They voted 48 to 25 in favor of a report that attacked advocates of creationism for seeking to "impose religious dogma" and promote "a radical return to the past" at the expense of children's education.

Several newer member countries of the European Union are beginning to challenge the secular culture in the older Western European nations. Over the last century, Europe has become more and more resistant to the gospel. They have entrenched evolution as the foundation of an anti-religious culture.

But many of the newer members of the EU are Eastern European where at least See Evolution Attack... page 14

I will always feel a connection to your ministry, because of the great part your gospel tracts played in my salvation. I can still remember turning to the back page of Demon's Nightmare and recording my date of conversion, just like it was yesterday. This January 23rd will mark my 35th year born again. Praise God for his faithfulness!

B.T.S. - E-mail

I would like to personally thank him (Jack Chick) for all his tracts. I think I have read them all. I have given away hundreds on the oil platforms in the North Sea where I work as a pipeline welder/missionary. Lots of people have read them out there and asked me for more.

B.F. - Scotland

Thank you for your tracts. I got saved in jail June 18, 2007. When I got out I went and joined the local Baptist Church. One of the first members to welcome me gave me a Chick tract. I read it and agreed it could be a very useful witnessing tool. I ordered Bad

Bob, Party Girl, Gun Slinger & Busted.

I figured these titles would speak to the hearts of lost people I was formerly running around sinning with. When I received them I was amazed! These tracts speak the language that can be understood by crack-heads, wild women and criminals of all sorts.

R.H. - Shelby, NC

I found Hi There in a pile of trash in a construction site I was working at as a security guard. I read it. Then began to read the Bible. I rejected the Mormon Church and asked the Real Jesus Christ into my heart.

C.K. - Boron, CA

Thank you Mr. Chick for writing the tract Unforgiven. I had a family member convert over to Islam several years ago and ended up hanging himself in jail. I am a black missionary Baptist pastor and Chief Counselor at one of Georgia's many prisons. I see this spiritual deception on a first hand basis. Thank you for the black character tracts and especially the Masonry tracts. I wrote and asked you years ago to make the first one. I am not popular especially in the black Baptist Church but I speak and teach my congregation about Masonry.

Chick Movie Ministering in Carpathia

The Light of the World movie is available in 18 languages and is being used in some very remote parts of the world. The Ukrainian version is being used by a missionary organization, Euro Team Outreach (ETO), focusing on isolated villages in the Carpathian mountains. There is little gospel witness there; most are Roman Catholic or Eastern Orthodox. In a two-month trek, they braved primitive suspension bridges and steep hikes to reach some of the villages accessible only on foot.

When they arrive at a village, they set up a tent camp and post fliers on each house or in mail boxes, announcing the film. Rarely did they not have a packed house in the biggest assembly halls available. After the showing, someone would present the gospel, give an altar call and invite everyone to sign up for a Bible correspondence course in their language. ETO organizes 2-month missions to these villages in the Ukraine. The following quote on their web site, www.ofreport.com, gives more details: "The Carpathian Mountains are home to thousands of unreached Ukrainians, living quite isolated from the modern world. Most major cities in Ukraine have at least some Gospel witness, but for many living in the mountains, Christ is little more than a figurine dangling from a chain. Religious though they are, most have never heard the call to believe the Gospel of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of sins."

The attached pictures give us a glimpse into this mission field and many more pictures are on their web site. You can see that dozens of villagers, many just children, are receiving the gospel for the first time through the video and other literature.

Pastors, teachers and missionaries report to us that the Light of the World movie is a very effective gospel witnessing tool. If your church has not yet used it, obtain a copy by visiting the Chick Publications web site (www.chick.com) and schedule a showing. On the web site you can see all the available languages and if the missionaries from your church are working in one of those areas, send them copies.

Keep in mind that many of the countries teach English along with the native languages making the English version useful there also.

In addition to the 18 languages currently available, translations in Laotian, Afrikaans and Romanian are in the works.

Chick Movie Works at Home, Too

Besides working on the mission field, the Light of the World movie keeps generating testimonies at home.

One woman from Valencia, California, called Chick Publications to say that, before her father died, he watched the video about 5 times a day. He would fall asleep while watching it, but when he woke up he would have someone start it all over again. This went on for about 5 days. In the process, he accepted Christ and his daughter had to call and thank us for the film. She was so grateful to know that she would see her father again in heaven.

Another person called from Long Beach, California, to report that he had shown the Light of the World movie to a group of young people. As a result, two, who were between the ages of 10 and 13, came forward for salvation.

Another person sent an email to tell us that her mildly autistic 6-year-old son reads Chick Tracts all the time and had received the Lord. He was so fired up that he was making his own tracts and giving them to his friends. "He loves the movie, Light of the World and it has been a tool to help us in raising him up in the love and fear of the Lord," she wrote.

Anyone who watches this simple but powerful, 78-minute video will have a clear understanding of who Christ is and His mission on earth for our salvation. It has been especially effective in helping youngsters tie together the stories they learn in Sunday school into an overview of the Scriptures.

Leaders Urge Abandoning Public Schools

For most of recorded history, godly parents have had to fight the culture to raise godly children. Only a few times did the culture work with the parents. America has been in one of those rare times up until the latter 20th century. Until then, parents were able to send their children to the public schools with reasonable confidence that they would receive a good education and not be taught the devil's lies. Now, that is all changed.

Transgender 8-year-old?

As usual, California is leading the way. In October last year, Governor Schwarzenegger signed into law a mandate that the California school system must not present any material derogatory of sodomites. Other states are also dealing with the fallout of accepting the homosexual agenda. In Colorado, one school system is scrambling to accommodate a second grade boy who wants to attend school as a girl. Anti-discrimination laws mandate that the school not only allow this but furnish unisex bathrooms and counsel the other students and parents that this is okay and must be accepted.

Lawsuits have been filed in a couple of other states by "transgendered" students who feel they were "discriminated" against. One girl, who declares she is a boy, is demanding access to the boy's restrooms and locker rooms.

Evolution Another Lie

One other lie that is universally promoted in the public schools is evolution. Pitched battles have been fought for several years between parents and school boards over teaching evolution as fact or just one theory of origins. To teach the biblical account of creation has been outlawed for several decades. Only recently have trusting Christian parents realized that they have been blindsided by this lie in the schools.

With these developments, Christian leaders are beginning to advise parents to abandon the public school system. No longer is it primarily concerned with educational excellence, but with indoctrinating students with these lies. Several months ago, Focus On The Family issued a suggestion that Christian parents consider alternate schooling. Now about a dozen such organizations in California have banded together to urge parents to abandon the California school system and move to home schooling or private schools.

For some parents who both work or don't have the money for private tuition, the only option may be to stay in the public schools. If this is the case, they must be sure that their children resist these lies. They must be taught the truth at home so they can sort out what they are being taught in school. As the culture becomes more ungodly, Christian parents must work harder to make sure their children can identify these subtle lies of the Devil and understand God's point of view.

Even Preschoolers Can Learn the Truth

Over the years, Chick Publications has received many letters from parents thanking us for providing God's Truth in a form that even their preschoolers could learn from. They tell us that Chick tracts and books left lying around the house were avidly read, providing a biblical antidote to the lies of the schools and the culture in general.

Wise Christian parents try to make their homes the central social gathering point for their children's friends and many neighborhood children have also come to know the truth and accept Christ as Saviour after spending hours absorbed in the Chick tracts left lying around the home.

A $14.95 All-Tract Assortment of 100 different titles scattered out on the coffee table becomes irresistible. And when they discover they are free to take some home with them, strong biblical truth gets seeded into the neighborhood.

praying for. It leads to a very subtle deception that Jesus may have had in mind when He also prayed, "keep them from the evil."

Since the pagan beginnings of Roman Catholicism, religious domination was the pope's main goal. As soon as the Bible believers began to speak out against the superstition and ritual of Rome, they were driven into the caves. For a thousand years, Bibles were outlawed, literacy was limited, and the common man was locked in ignorance. Many who objected were declared heretics and burned at the stake.

The Reformation broke Rome's iron grip and the printing press gave literacy to the common man. He now could read the Bible for himself. Finally, the popes had to change strategy. Years ago, Ex-Jesuit Alberto Rivera described Rome's new tactics. When persecution and murder failed to wipe out the Protestants, they shifted to propaganda. The word began to go out that Catholics were really Bible-believing Christians. The appeal for "unity" began. The Week of Prayer for Unity is a classic example.

Bible believers joined Catholics in "peace and justice" issues such as abortion and human rights and stopped witnessing to them. Now the seduction is almost complete. But Jesus said, "Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues" (Rev. 18:4).

From the Reformation to the middle of the 20th century, Bible believers have identified the Vatican with the great whore, the prostitute church of Revelation 17 and 18. In his book, Smokescreens, author Jack Chick details how the behavior of the popes over the centuries overwhelmingly fits this biblical prophecy. The Vatican has seduced kings into submitting to the popes and butchered millions who refused to accept Rome's false doctrine.

Just recently Pope Benedict restated that there is no true salvation outside the

I was saved after reading a tract called The Beast. At that time I was majoring in computer science. That tract really hit home as we had been discussing electronic funds transfer and the new age of computers. I have since then graduated Bible college and have been busy in the local jails. When Do the Scriptures Lie? When They are Changed!

Proverbs 30:5-6 declares: "Every word of God is pure... Add thou not unto his words, lest he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar." That includes adding or subtracting. (See Revelation 22:18-19.)

Psalm 12:6-7 repeats that "The words of the LORD are pure words." Then promises: "Thou shalt keep them, O LORD, thou shalt preserve them from this generation for ever."

Each of these scriptures clearly states the "words" of God, not just the "word" (concepts) of God. Part of His inspiration of the Old Testament included the awesome respect that He gave the scribes who made meticulously exact copies.

The indictment as a liar should make any translator pause. A liar is one who causes confusion. But the translators of the modern versions of the Bible lack that respect creating great confusion.

Isaiah 14:12 is an example. The KJV states clearly that it is Lucifer who is being spoken of. Modern versions use "morning star" and "star of the morning." There is no question in the mind of the average layman who is meant by "Lucifer." But when you also find "morning star" in Rev. 22:16 and discover it is Jesus, you may wonder just who Isaiah is talking about.

In his book, Answers to Your Bible Version Questions, author David W. Daniels discusses many more places where modern versions change the meanings of God's words to the confusion of the reader. These changes can have serious eternal consequences for both the translators and the readers.

Many churches declare in their statement of faith that they do not believe we have a perfect Bible today. They only believe that the "original autographs" were God's perfect words. So, when those were lost

renounced violent jihad and any intention, now or in the future, to impose Sharia (Muslim Law) on non-Muslim countries," writes Robert Spencer, author of several books on Islam.

In an article on HumanEvents.com, Spencer points out that the situation is complicated by some basic Islamic doctrines of religious deception. Based on Bukhari's translation of the Hadith, Muhammad is quoted as saying, "War is deceit." Two suras (chapters) of the Qur'an (3:28 and 16:106) seem to support this idea of speaking a lie while holding the truth "in your heart."

When cornered, they will claim that those verses only apply to situations where the speaker will be harmed if he tells the truth. However, there are plenty of current incidents where the "jihadists" used deception to carry out an act of war. The destruction of the trade towers is a classic example. The terrorists lied to get into the country, lied about their pilot training, lied to get onto the planes, and lied to the crew to overcome them. They saw themselves in a war and used deceit at every turn.

So where are the "moderates?" They are mostly caught between the extremists and the Qur'an. Author Mohammad Al Ghazoli, in Christ, Muhammad and I, writes: "The god of Muhammad, in accordance with the Qur'an, is a god of cruelty and deception.... The Qur'an describes Allah: 'The deceiver, and Allah also deceived them... You deceive, but Allah is the best of all deceivers.'"¹

Spencer describes one of America's favorite "moderates," Imam Siraj Wahaj. He is in great demand as a featured speaker at mosques as well as universities. He was the first Muslim to give an invocation in the U.S. Congress in 1991.

After 9/11 he told America what we wanted to hear: "I now feel responsible to preach, actually to go on a jihad against extremism."

But he has also warned that the U.S. will fall unless it "accepts the Islamic agenda," and complained: "if only Muslims were clever politically, they could take over the United States and replace its constitutional government with a caliphate." (A Muslim type government.)

It is obvious from these quotes that his idea of "moderate" still includes world conquest by Islam. And since his holy book stipulates that infidels must be killed if they do not convert, we must be suspicious of his definition of "moderate," especially since his holy book also allows him to use deception in conquering the world.

Ghazoli was, for most of his life, a Muslim working at the top of the Arabic publishing industry. But since a child, something about Islam did not add up. Finally, near the end of his life, someone put a Bible in his hands and said, "Read!"

He opened it and was immediately captivated by this story of a God who instructed man to love his enemies instead of killing them. In this Holy Book (Bible) he found that he could have forgiveness for his sins and assurance of heaven.

In his life he had written many books, so he proceeded to write another one in Arabic to his people showing the contrast between Allah and Jehovah, between Jesus and Muhammad. Ghazoli describes Muhammad as a violent, ruthless, womanizer subject to fits of revelation designed primarily to vindicate his lust and tyranny.

But the Jesus Ghazoli found was instead a gracious Saviour who actually gave His life for all the sins of man.

Later, Christ, Muhammad and I was translated into English and is a must-read for soul winners who witness to Muslims.

Islam, under the deceptive label of "moderate," is firmly committed to ruling the world. The only force that can stop it is the gospel. Fortunately, the average Muslim is confused by the contradictions in the Qur'an. He is usually open to a gentle effort to help him see the beauty of salvation bought by a loving Saviour.

If we are going to stop this hellish war that uses girls equipped with remote-controlled bombs to blow up crowded markets, we must get busy leading them to our loving Saviour. ¹*Ghazoli, page 176*

a form of godliness still exists. Their belief in the Genesis account of creation is clashing with the godless perspective that evolution has fostered in Western European nations.

The report stated: "If we are not careful, creationism could become a threat to human rights which are a key concern of the Council of Europe." As usual, this fear of creationism springs from a basic spirit of rebellion against a God that might be displeased with some of their "human rights," such as same-sex marriage, abortion, and genetic engineering that the Western European culture "enjoys."

Seeking to drive a wedge between the Bible and science, the report argued: "The theory of evolution has nothing to do with divine revelation but is built on facts." However, careful examination of these "facts" finds them very thin or non-existent. Author Thomas Heinze looks at a number of these "facts" in his book, The Vanishing Proofs of Evolution.

Heinze debunks the most widely used "evidence" found in science textbooks and other literature.

New Seductive Tactic...

where the unity of "ecumenism" leads: everyone must bow to the pope.

Soul winners, we must be careful who we pray with and what we pray for. Paul told the Corinthians not to keep company with or eat with idolaters. (See 1 Cor. 5:11.) Many Bible believers are falling for the pope's seductions. Instead, we need to recognize that the precious Roman Catholics are duped into believing that their "church" will get them out of purgatory when they die. Let's not allow them to wait til then to discover that this is a lie. We must give them the truth that will set them free from the bondage of the pope's superstitious rituals.

One is the peppered moth in England used as prized evidence of evolution since the 1960s. Before the industrial revolution, trees in England supported lichens on their bark that were light colored. One researcher noticed that the peppered moths had coloring that matched the lichens. Later, the smoke from industry killed the lichens and the bark was darker.

Soon the coloring of the moths also became darker. The researcher concluded that the change allowed the birds to find and eat the light colored moths and only the moths with a darker mutation survived. Recent evidence has proven that the moths did not land on the tree trunks. Instead they hid under the leaves of the trees in the daytime and only came out at night when the birds are asleep.

It was also proven that the researcher had staged his pictures of the moths by gluing the moths to the tree trunks.

Heinze exposes other bogus "facts" such as Haeckel's embryos, comparative anatomy, and "uphill mutations." He shows how mutations never make new organs, they only destroy existing ones.

The European report claims that science and revelation contradict each other. Heinze shows how true science and the Bible do not contradict each other. The false science that is used to support evolution is based on "facts" twisted to fit the anti-god rebellion of those who fear they will have to submit to the Creator if they acknowledge that He exists.

or worn out, we no longer had a Bible we could fully trust.

But God said, in Psalm 12:6-7 (KJV) that His words are pure and that He would preserve them forever. The church that believes we have lost the perfect originals is, in effect, calling God a liar. Actually, this scripture is yet another place where the modern versions have drastically changed the meaning. We can only ask, "Who's the liar?"

negotiable right” of all religions to spread their faith. But they also declared that religious people need to “heal themselves” of the “obsession of converting others.”

In August of 2007, the World Evangelical Alliance joined the discussion at a meeting in France. WEA leaders are hoping to use the meetings to call attention to the severe persecution of believers in the Muslim countries. The risk is that any such code will strike at the heart of our biblical soul winning mandate —the great commission.

While biblical soul winners are careful to avoid any semblance of coercion, many cultures are threatened by even the presence of another religion. Muslim countries are the most restrictive, but Hindus and Buddhists in India have begun to tighten laws and allow attacks on Christians and churches.

Persecution of Christians is on the rise, worldwide. It is estimated that 55,000 Christians are killed each year for their faith. This is partly because of an increased interest in religion. Atheistic Communism is all but dead. Russian president Vladimir Putin, who wears a cross and attends church regularly, has recently consolidated political power with the Orthodox church..

It is estimated that over 100 million believers are in the underground church in China. Various brands of Christianity have made significant advances in Africa and Asia. Europe is now one of the most secular (non-religious) areas in the world.

While interest in religion has risen, many of the religions have become more anti-Christian, trying through laws and persecution to eliminate true biblical witnessing. Any concerted effort by the other major religions of the world to develop a “code of conversion” can only further restrict the freedom to preach the gospel.

Even spreading the gospel by literature is being restricted. Custom duties and restrictions, theft and sabotage of shipments are increasing. Chick Publications is having to find ways of producing literature within some of the countries that raise the barriers against importing. Some missionaries are pleading with Christians who travel to their countries to travel light and carry literature in their luggage.

Jesus spoke of the night coming when “no man can work.” Throughout history, the times of freedom to witness have been largely restricted in most of the world. Today, with the internet and inexpensive literature, we have a rare opportunity. Jesus said in Matthew 24 that the end would not come until the gospel was preached to all nations. This is the first generation with the tools to fulfill this scripture.

Soul winners, we cannot afford to miss this rare chance to reach the world for Jesus.

laws. Voting is also essential to protecting the freedom to witness, or it will be taken away, too.

But our prime responsibility is to get as many people as possible thinking about God’s opinion. History records that almost every revival since the reformation was preceded by an intensive tract campaign. The tracts helped the people to think about their sins and God’s judgment.

Somehow, Americans must be jarred awake to the fact that God will not long tolerate our sin. Only dedicated soul winners can do the job. Chick Publications has several tracts that clearly state God’s impending judgment against sodomy and abortion. They include Who Murdered Clarice? and *Baby Talk*¹ for abortion and *Sin City, Doom Town, Birds and Bees*¹ and *Gay Blade*¹ on sodomy.

We must salt these biblical truths into our communities to turn back these evils.

A Message from Jack Chick

Dear Ones in Christ:

When I saw the news of those freakish tornadoes hitting in February that caused such havoc, the first thing that crossed my mind was, "What on earth are we doing to Israel?" God made it clear we are not to go against Jerusalem, God's holy city, or tamper with His holy land. But our American leaders are, and I dread to think of the consequences as the "roadmap for peace" is negotiated. Is there anyone advising the president that giving God's land to the Muslims is a no-no? The media has successfully changed the thinking of the people into believing Israel is the villain. It's the Muslims who are screaming for blood. All Israel is trying to do is stay alive!

Watch the storms increase every time we double-cross little Israel. I believe we are just getting a taste of what is coming. What should we do as believers? "Pray for the peace of Jerusalem" (Ps. 122:6). God said, "I will bless them that bless [Israel], and curse him that curseth [Israel]" (Gen 12:3). Any nation messing with Jerusalem will pay a terrible price. (See Zech. 12:1-3.) In the not-too-distant future, Russia and the Muslim nations will move against her, and they will be destroyed. (See Ezek 38-39.) When we see these things coming upon us, the Lord tells us to "look up" (Luke 21:28) and preach the gospel (Matt. 24:14). We won't be able to pass tracts in heaven. By then it will all be over.

May God bless and protect you.
Your brother in Christ,

Jack
