Serving the Bible-believing Christians of the World

Is It Possible to be a ‘Born-Again’ Catholic?

Small boy “receiving Jesus” from the late Pope John Paul II.

“But I know several born-again Catholics.” How often have you heard this reply when you tried to help someone see that they need to witness to Roman Catholics? Usually it is said with an air of finality —discussion over! Rarely do they allow you to explain that, to them “born-again” is baptism at infancy and “receiving Jesus” is the wafer-god placed on their tongues at Mass.

For those who are willing to hear more, it gets a bit complicated from here. The “Mass” is full of what Catholicism calls “mysteries.” Often it is called the “Sacrifice” of the Mass. This usually goes right past the Bible believer who has been taught that Jesus was the final and

Muslim TV Exec Beheads Wife Over Divorce

A killing in Buffalo, New York has horrified Americans and provided varying degrees of shock in the Muslim community. On February 12, a Pakistani Muslim TV executive, Muzzammil Hassan, walked into a local police station and confessed that he had killed his wife, Aasiya, and her beheaded body could be found in the TV studio where they were both employed. She was the third one of his wives to file for divorce because of his violent behavior.

Authorities are tight lipped about the motive and method of killing but

'Global Transformation' Threatens Soul Winning

Biblical world watchers such as Dave Hunt<sup>1</sup> and Beit Kjos<sup>2</sup> are sounding the alarm on the recent global turmoil. Hunt sees a transformation of the world's politico/religious scene that lines up with biblical prophecy.

He sees the unity of religions as essential to this transformation. He quotes Hans Kung, an ecumenical researcher: "There can 'be no peace among the nations without peace among the religions.'"

Kjos quotes Dominic Peccoud, speaker at the 1999 World Economic Forum who declared: "Fundamentalism is a worldwide threat" to this religious peace. To counter this threat he advises: "...to change the view that salvation depends on playing by certain religious rules: everyone is saved."

This unbiblical idea that all religions lead to a loving God (Who really didn't mean it about eternal hell) is pervasive in the minds of most westerners and taught by most religions other than Islam and Biblical Christianity.

Of course, this threat of "fundamentalism" includes Bible believers. Fundamentalism has become a dirty word because the media has tagged radical Islam with this word. But Catholicism, Secular Humanism and even mainline Christianity have joined this chorus against those who believe the King James Bible to be God's preserved Words in English.

The meltdown of the global economy is giving a huge shove toward the new world order. The bogus idea that man can do something about the global warming threat is also providing a push in that direction. Another major world-wide worry is the growing threat of high-level corruption. The turmoil in many countries today is directly caused by corrupt leaders. Mexico is in civil war over illegal drugs. Millions of Africans are starving to death or killed by preventable disease because of corruption.

President Obama is struggling to find untainted members for his cabinet. Both business and political leaders are calling for a universal system of ethics, a more "just and equitable world order." Soul winners, we need to take every possible opportunity to share the good news while unbelievers are in such quandary. We have a window of opportunity caused by this world-wide confusion.

Leaders of the 2002 World Economic Forum were given this challenge: "We enthusiastically endorse the project of initiating and continuing dialogue in order to create a framework that integrates leaders of religion, business, politics and civil society. Let us join forces to seize this opportunity." (emphasis added)

When this "integration" happens, as soul winners, we can be sure that Jesus' message that He is "the way, the truth and the life" and that "no man cometh unto the Father but by Me" will be declared too "divisive" and will be outlawed world wide.

We need to redouble our efforts in reaching as many as possible while we can. Blanket your neighborhood with tracts and clear your schedule to share the gospel with those who respond.

complete sacrifice. But if we do ask what this "sacrifice" means, we open up a whole can of unbiblical worms.

Alphonsus Ligouri, a revered Roman Catholic "saint" and "Doctor of the Church" makes this very revealing statement in his book, The Dignity and Duties of the Priest: "Jesus has died to institute the priesthood. It was not necessary for the Redeemer to die in order to save the world; a drop of His Blood, a single tear, or prayer, was sufficient to procure salvation for all... But to institute the priesthood, the death of Jesus Christ has been necessary. Had he not died, where should we find the victim that the priests of the New Law now offer? a victim altogether holy and immaculate, capable of giving to God an honor worthy of God."

For the Bible believer, there are all kinds of red flags here. So, Jesus didn't die for the world? And, how did the priesthood get into this? And what is this "victim" business? Now you know why the Pope tries to keep the Mass a "mystery."

Ligouri boldly denies the "finished work of Christ" that the Apostle Paul so carefully teaches in all his epistles. Instead of Jesus being the final Sacrifice for our sins, fulfilling the Old Testament sacrificial system, Rome teaches that He died to "institute the priesthood" so that He could become the wafer-god (victim) that the priest re-sacrifices at every "celebration" of the Mass.

Chapter 7 of Hebrews clearly explains that Jesus died as the final sacrifice for sin and became the only Priest that we need interceding for us. Roman Catholicism ignores this teaching. Instead they have cobbled together a priestcraft system using parts of the Old Testament sacrifices and whatever useful pagan rituals they could pick up along the way.

These include the wafer-god consecrated and eaten by the Egyptians; the female being (Virgin Mary) who is worshipped as a goddess in almost every false religion; confession of sins to a priest who has

If you could let Bro. Jack know that my Daddy introduced our family to these wonderful little tracts and comics to help us learn how to witness to others when we were younger.

My Daddy has gone on to be with our Lord Jesus this year and we miss him very much.

However, we thank Jesus that we are still able to share this wonderful information with our children who are now learning how to witness to their class mates and share their faith with those that are lost.

R.C., Fitzgerald, GA.

I received my tract order and the Light of the World DVD. That night we were babysitting our granddaughter who just turned 4 yrs old. She sat on the couch between us and watched.

During the video she kept shaking her head and saying, "Poor Jesus." When they were part way through the sinner's prayer she said, "I want to pray." My husband tried to find the beginning of the prayer so she could pray with them. He was apparently taking too long and she said, "Shut it off. I want to pray." After it was shut off she bowed her head and prayed her own prayer, "Jesus, thank you for loving me. Please come into my heart and be with me."

She told us Jesus was in her heart and has told just about everyone she sees about the video and that she asked Jesus to come into her heart. We were amazed! Thank you for making this DVD available.

We Plant — God Gives the Increase

Jesus spoke of the word of God being like seed sown in a field. Some were lost to the birds or weeds or the ground was too hard to sprout them. But others grew and made a harvest. Soul winners who use gospel tracts as seed are familiar with the various results. Often the ground is hard and the harvest slim. Yet, the Apostle Paul pointed out that we are only responsible to plant and water. It is God who gives the increase. (See 1 Corinthians 3.)

But the farmer knows that if he doesn't plant, there will be no harvest. Many of you are planting and the following testimonies from the Chick Publications' files testify to the harvest.

I just wanted you all to know that your tracts were instrumental in my salvation ten years ago. After I was saved I realized and recognized Chick tracts from my childhood and even as a young adult. Those seeds planted by faithful workers over the years were used by the Lord to draw me to Jesus.

J. M., Email

Praise God! I was born again as a result of reading This was Your Life almost 27 years ago. I also had friends that prayed for me prior to that day. So please send as many copies of This was Your Life as you can. I'm enclosing $10. Thank you for sowing seed, as I will do, too.

Jean T., MO

I was first exposed to your tracts as a young atheist in a high school in Central Florida. Your tracts sowed seed, another watered, and about 3 years ago GOD gave a glorious increase!!! It took several years for me to finally give my heart and life to the Lord, but I have always said your tract helped do it! I thank the Lord for your wonderful ministry!

R. K., Email

While my husband was doing time he was handed a couple of your tracts. He also thought it interesting that as a child he stumbled across a couple his mother had.

Somehow the seeds were planted. Now they have grown deep in his heart.

K. M., Redding CA

Chick tracts helped me to make a KJV only stand as well as planting seeds in my heart for salvation. Thank you.

G. E., Email

The first tract I read of yours was Somebody Goofed, way back in 1976.

This tract is what planted a seed for me to start to question where my eternal destiny lies.

I accepted the Lord as my Savior the following year in 1977. Praise GOD!

B. F., Email

When I was 17, I was a dishwasher in a restaurant. On a Sunday evening we had a lot of church people in. I was washing dishes when I came upon a crumbled tract This Was Your Life. I stopped and read it and signed the back.

Although it was only a head decision at that time, it sowed the seed for my real salvation at age 19. Thanks for your wonderful ministry!!! God Bless You.

Ed McG., Email

"I've read your tract This Was Your Life a long time ago and you planted a seed in me. I read it when I was 16 years old and I eventually got saved at 19."

Jamaine H., Dayton, OH

I accepted Christ at the age of 22. When I was about 9 or 10, however, I was given a copy of This Was Your Life. I remember the message and believe it was a seed to later bring me to Christ! Thank you!

Survey: Only 1 Percent of Young Adults Have Biblical World View

A recent survey finds that the youngest adults in America are increasingly confused about biblical truth.

Pollster George Barna applied a strict definition of a Biblical world view and found that only 1 percent of respondents aged 18 to 23 agreed with it in every aspect.

The survey asked if they believed that absolute moral truth existed; the Bible was completely accurate in the principles it teaches; Satan is considered to be a real being or force, not merely symbolic; a person cannot earn their way into Heaven by trying to be good or doing good works; Jesus Christ lived a sinless life on earth; and God is the all-knowing, all-powerful creator of the world who still rules the universe today.

The survey sampling was of the general population, not specifically targeted toward people who claimed to be Christian. However, among the 75 percent of Americans who claim to be Christian, the percentage only increased to 19 percent.

Barna laid part of the blame on the parents who have not been diligent in shaping their children's world view.

Culture Lost in One Generation

Too many have depended on the church or the culture to do the job. They do not realize that in one generation, the culture has become the enemy of the biblical family. Schools teach evolution and hand out condoms. Entertainment has become the focus of the new generation introducing unbiblical fantasies and sinful perversions.

Mega-churches have grown up around this fixation on entertainment neglecting to preach eternal hell and judgment for sin.

Then Barna asks how parents can teach a biblical world view if they don't have one. These young adults are the product of a previous generation that had also lost sight of biblical truth.

Next, Barna raises the question of how good a job the church is doing in Christian education. Obviously, in a couple of hours a week, the church cannot make up for what the parents have not done. But has the church done its job in training and challenging the parents?

The recent turmoil in the economy is causing many to take another look at the state of our culture. Moses warned Israel of the dangers of misusing the blessings of prosperity. They were to be an example to the world of what God would do for a nation who worshiped and obeyed Him.

But they polluted themselves with the idols of the world and He had to bring judgment.

America Has Lost Her Mission

In many ways, America was given the same mission: a city on a hill, an example of God's blessing for honoring Him.

Blessing flowed and missionaries were sent to every corner of the globe. But with it came fatness and selfishness and acceptance of Satan's lies.

Can it be turned around? We don't know. But this we can do: we can stand solid on our biblical world view sharing the gospel every way possible.

Many revivals in the past have started with a few concerned Christians. One of the chief instruments they used was gospel tracts. Millions were printed and planted like seed that flourished into great awakenings turning whole nations back to God. They prepared the hearts for great preachers such as Finney, Spurgeon, Whitefield, and Moody to reap the harvests.

For over 40 years, Chick tracts have proven their ability to "get read." Thousands have testified of their effectiveness in pointing them to the Saviour.

The new Chick tract, It's All About You, speaks directly to this new generation. It describes the struggle in the spirit world for their souls.

God is using His judgment to get this nation's attention. We must use the opportunity to "work while it is day." The night is coming, we just don't know when. (See John 9:4.)

Sodomites Attack Donors to Yes-on-Marriage Amendment

As America continues to legalize sin, those committed to evil become more bold in attacking people standing for righteousness.

This was demonstrated recently by the sodomite thugs who attacked donors to the Yes-on-Proposition-8 campaign in California. The measure passed on November 4, 2008 placing an amendment to the state constitution defining marriage in California as “between a man and a woman.”

A fluke in the campaign finance laws allowed the names, places of employment and other personal information of those donors to be posted on the internet. Homosexual activists proceeded to locate them and harass them, their family, coworkers and even picket their places of work. A Google map was posted on the internet with pointers to the homes and businesses of these donors. A click on the pointers gave their names, places of employment or business, and amount of their contributions.

Homosexual Terrorists

“Over the last two months [prior to Jan. 20], many of those supporters have seen their homes and churches vandalized, been forced to resign their jobs, and been threatened with violence and even death,” says Alan Sears, of the Alliance Defense Fund.

Mormons, Knights of Columbus, and various churches and individuals contributed millions to pass the measure. Now they are the bullseye target for vandalism, harassment and worse.

It is disturbing that, in 2000, Californians voted against sodomite marriage by over 60 percent. This year, the vote in favor of Proposition 8 was only 53 percent. Other studies indicate that over 70 percent of U.S. high school students see nothing wrong with a homosexual relationship.

Blunted Biblical View

School propaganda and media promotion of sodomy is quickly blunting the Biblical view that homosexuality is an abomination. The disease and violence that it produces is ignored and anyone who dares speak against it is quickly bludgeoned into silence.

Many decent people know something is not right with this picture but are not able to speak about it effectively. They have only been told one side of the story. As Bible believers, we need to make sure they understand God’s view.

Since the media and even the government schools will not tell the truth, soul winners have two goals: inform the culture of the horrors of this perversion and lead individuals caught in this lifestyle to freedom in Christ. Chick Publications has published two tracts, Sin City and Doom Town, for this purpose. They clearly show God’s opinion of homosexuality and present His salvation from this sin.

A recently published paperback, Hot Topics, also includes additional information on homosexuality and pedophilia. Militant homosexuals have been very successful in capturing public opinion and getting laws passed in their favor. Any attempt in the media or legislature by Christians to give God’s view is quickly squelched.

Our only recourse is to go directly to the people, and that is where gospel

‘Christianity Changes People’s Hearts’ Says Avowed Atheist

“In Africa, Christianity changes people’s hearts.” To believers, this is not a surprising statement, but coming from an avowed atheist, it is a rare admission.

Matthew Parris writes a weekly column in The Times of London and recently reported on a trip to Malawi in Africa. While there, he observed what he called “...the enormous contribution that Christian evangelism makes in Africa, sharply distinct from the work of secular NGOs, government projects and international aid efforts.”

He concluded what Christian missionaries have proven all over the world: “Education and training alone will not do. In Africa, Christianity changes people’s hearts. It brings a spiritual transformation. The rebirth is real. The change is good.” He also hinted that this observation had seriously challenged his atheistic convictions.

Recent missionary studies describe huge revivals occurring in much of the non-western world.

Only four major areas of the world are not experiencing major “revolution of evangelism.”

They are Western Europe, Japan, Australia and the U.S. Nations with no record of Christians ten years ago, now have numbers in the hundreds of thousands. Some who had only a few thousands, register millions.

It is estimated that China now has over 100 million believers in 80,000 underground churches.

Christianity in India is growing to the point where Buddhists and Hindus are alarmed and are stepping up the persecution.

America has always been a strong supporter of foreign missions. Britain began the tradition before the U.S. church matured and took up the mantle.

Bibles and gospel literature have provided the basis for this “revolution of evangelism.” Missionaries can go and reach a few people.

They may even work hard at training native Christians as pastors and evangelists. But their work is limited unless they have native language bibles and training materials.

Check Publications works hard to provide native language soul winning tracts for missionaries in over 100 languages. (See web page: www.chick.com/catalog/TractLookUp.asp)

Many have responded with pictures and testimonies. Missionary Donald C., from Venezuela reports simply: "These tracts are like dynamite down here".

From the Philippines another writes: "I was saved in 1975 and have read most all of your literature including the comic series and have used your material to teach Bible history and the dangers of the Catholic Church influence.

"I have been a Missionary to the Philippines for 20 years and have used your tracts over the years. Thousands have been saved. Even some priests and nuns have read the Chick tracts that we have given them."

Even though America is fast becoming a "post-Christian" nation, there are still people who have a burden for missions. Many, who cannot go themselves, supply tracts to missionaries on the field.

One couple supplied over 50,000 Thai language The Word Became Flesh to workers in that mission field and went to assist in their distribution. In the adjacent pictures, you can see the intense interest that tracts generate. When tracts are seeded into such an area of spiritual darkness, they go from hand to hand generating hunger for our God of love that they know nothing about. Local missionaries and native pastors reap the harvest for years to come. From New Guinea another missionary writes: "When people see we have your 'books' we're almost mobbed each time! 6 souls have been saved thus far, and many under conviction."

Does your church support foreign missionaries? If so, why not have them visit the Chick.com web site to see if we have tracts in their local language. If so, you could make a donation through your church for a shipment sent directly to them from Chick Publications. Tracts in a missionary's hands greatly extends their outreach.

Tamil Light of the World Broadcast in India

Missionary Kathy Smith reports, "We had Light of the World broadcast for the first time this evening on a secular Hindu station. We got calls from people and whole families that accepted the Lord and were calling to find out how they can receive a free New Testament which we are offering. We are so happy how the Lord is using Light of the World here in India!"

Many Battle Cry readers have given to help with the cost of translating and producing this gospel film in many languages.

Originally produced in English and Spanish, it helps people to truly understand the gospel in over 20 languages. Have you shown it at your church?

Evolution: Faith —Not Science!

By Thomas Heinze

Because they are complex, many things appear to have been designed and created: cars, refrigerators, the earth and particularly the living things that live on earth. Atheists and many evolutionists recognize the evidence: Living things appear to have been designed. But they don't believe that they were.

The famous atheist Richard Dawkins, wrote: "Biology is the study of complicated things that give the appearance of having been designed for a purpose." (Richard Dawkins, The Blind Watchmaker, 1996, p. 1)

Even having admitted the evidence, that living things look like they were designed, he is still an atheist. He claims that natural selection makes things look like they were designed.

Most of us reject this and say these things look like they were designed because they were designed!

Many evolutionists prefer a different explanation of the things around us. Looking back to the beginning, their schoolbooks usually teach that, at the first, "nothing" exploded and made the universe.

Then on earth, atoms blundered into each other and made the first simple living things, bacteria probably. Then these evolved as natural selection chose the best and eliminated the rest.

As a generalization this may sound OK, but try to apply it! Only living things reproduce, and they reproduce after their kind.

People reproduce people, and bacteria reproduce bacteria. Science and the Bible agree: Living things bring forth according to their kind.

Evolution, on the contrary, teaches that living things started with something small like bacteria (which they often call "primitive"), and by random mutations, brought forth ever higher, more complex kinds. At this point the evolutionist has abandoned scientific evidence for a leap of faith!

He believes that bacteria gradually, over millions of years, brought forth fish. Over millions of years the fish brought forth primitive mammals. Then you and I evolved from them.

Evolutionists base this belief on faith alone. It is exactly contrary to the scientific principle of entropy which, among other things, says that random changes to an organized system reduce its organization. Which is right? Check it out with an experiment!

Take a sledge hammer, close your eyes and hit a functioning system with it! Whether you hit a television set, a hog at the slaughter house, or a bacterium, the random changes made by the blow will reduce rather than increase the system's ability to function.

Such experiments prove the rule: random changes to an organized system reduce its functionality! A scientific word for this rule is "entropy." Mutations and other random changes don't increase organization, they reduce it.

This is where evolutionists abandon science for faith. They believe, in spite of all scientific evidence, that random damage caused by mutations made bacteria become fish, and fish become people. They end up propagating an idea exactly contrary to both the scientific principle of entropy and to the evidence.

After examining the evidence that proves this scientific principle, they choose to believe the opposite! Shame on them!

More proof that evolution depends on faith, not scientific evidence, can be found in The Vanishing Proofs of Evolution and How Life Began by Thomas Heinze available from Chick Publications.

the internet is buzzing with comments. Muslim sources deny that the killing was more than domestic violence that got out of control. Others are pointing out the similarity to so-called “honor killings” that are fairly common in Pakistan and other Muslim cultures.

Muslim leaders who claim that violence, domestic or otherwise, is not part of Islam, have a lot of explaining to do. They must begin with the modern practice of suicide bombers who are persuaded to blow themselves up for the cause of their god, Allah. Violent revenge is prescribed by the Qur’an on one’s enemies. “Heretics” who refuse to convert to Islam are to be beheaded.

Muhammad a Poor Role Model

Besides the violence encouraged by Islam’s “holy book,” Muhammad, himself, indulged in brutalities seldom equaled in history. When it comes to violence, ex-Muslim Mohammad Al Ghazoli, in his book, Christ, Muhammad and I documents some horrific episodes.

In one instance, Muhammad directed his men to systematically behead 900 captives while their wives and children watched. Afterward, Muhammad examined the women and picked the most beautiful one for himself. When she spit at him and refused to marry him, he kept her as a slave and forced her to have intercourse with him while her feet and hands were tied down.

Ghazoli describes another instance when a 70-year-old woman was captured along with her daughter. Muhammad directed one of his men to rape the daughter while her mother watched. He then had each leg of the mother tied to two camels that were forced to gallop in opposite directions ripping her into two pieces.

Whenever someone questioned Muhammad’s actions, Ghazoli says that “Gabriel” would carry down a verse from Allah, justifying it. Ghazoli asks: “What kind of god orders something so cruel, and allows killing, raping, adultery, robbing, and slavery? Surely that ‘god’ was the fabrication of Muhammad’s imagination. It could not be the real, loving, merciful God.”

In Christ, Muhammad and I, Ghazoli tells how, early in life, he was disillusioned with Islam’s capricious god, Allah, and Muhammad, his barbaric “prophet.” Yet, it was not until near the end of his days that someone handed him a Bible and said: “read!” In it he discovered a much different God who forbids revenge and instructs us to love our enemies, instead. Captivated, he devoured this amazing Book and committed his life to Christ.

Is it little wonder that Muslim nations forbid their citizens from owning such a Book? Conversion to Christ can lead to “honor killing” by one’s own family. Islamic leaders know that if news of this God of love gets out, their power over their people will vanish.

Pictures of Aasiya and Muzzammil on the internet show an attractive and accomplished couple. How very sad that no one was able to reach them with the gospel of peace provided by a loving God.

But God has brought millions of Muslims to our doorsteps. All are deluded into following this Arabian moon god who promotes pagan, primitive barbarism. What are we waiting for to present them with the Book that tells of the true and living God of love who died for them? Many of them would respond, as Mohammad Ghazoli did.

A MESSAGE FROM JACK CHICK

Dear Ones in Christ:

The other day at church the parent of a young teenager told about how he had given a present to his daughter: an iPod, an investment of over $300.

The teenager's response was a perfect sign of the times. She responded flatly, "Oh... it doesn't have the extra attachments."

Too many people take everything for granted. They think everything in life is only important if it affects them.

That's where this tract comes in. Almost every page of our new tract, It's All About You, appeals to the selfishness of the unsaved.

The teenager is continually confronted with what affects her life. But we all know that what is most important is not a "what," it's a "Who."

There are spiritual forces around her that she doesn't understand, and one character who is after her soul.

This tract is good for young and old alike, because it confronts both our own selfishness and our need for a Saviour.

I pray this tract will be put into the hand of every teen in the country.

Your brother in Christ,

Mass...

the power to forgive (absolve) them; punishment for your own sins in purgatory; salvation by works and no assurance of heaven.

So, this "born-again Catholic" is a strange creature if he continues to participate in this "Mass." No way can he subject his "freedom in Christ" to this kind of unbiblical ritual unless he chooses to accept, without question, these pagan "mysteries" that God calls "abominations."

Another line that we often hear is that Roman Catholics are really Christians; they just have a different "worship tradition." How can that "tradition" be of God when it requires bowing down to statues of goddesses and wafer-god idols? (See also Matthew 15:6.)
