

Fifth Marian ‘Dogma’ Pushes Jesus Further Aside

Vatican officials are continuing to elbow Jesus aside and put their Virgin Mary goddess in His place. When Jesus said to the hypocrites of his day: “...ye made the commandment of God of no effect by your tradition,” (Matt. 15:6), He must also have been speaking prophetically to the popes.

Over the centuries, various popes have added to this smelly heap of unbiblical tradition about the mother of Jesus. It started early. Aware of the powerful draw of the pagan goddesses, they declared Mary “Mother of God,” at the Council of Ephesus in 431 AD.

They continued to morph her into goddess-hood at the First Lateran Council in 649 by discovering her “perpetual virginity.” In 1854 they found that she was “immaculately conceived,”

Roman Catholicism presents its Jesus as an emaciated stick figure on a crucifix. Their Virgin Mary goddess is paraded through the streets like royalty.

Don’t Forget the Children

One day Jesus had to rebuke His disciples for shooing away the children who were trying to get to Him. He said to let them come, and pointed out their simple faith. That simple faith is a golden opportunity for soul winners.

Sometimes we are fearful of what the parents will say and hold back from handing tracts to children. But there are occasions and techniques that

When the Mosque Comes to Town

The following interview was conducted by BATTLE CRY with Tim Berends, who has spent many hours handing out tracts and witnessing in Arab neighborhoods and festivals, and near local mosques. His insights can be a great help to soul-winning churches concerned about the arrival of a Muslim worship center in their community.

BC: What is the usual reaction of Christians when a Muslim worship center shows up in their community?

BERENDS: Fear! They think that confronting Islam can be dangerous. Most of what they have heard about Islam is their tendency to retaliate, sometimes with violence, to any attempt to witness to them.

BC: What is the first thing a church needs to know before trying to witness to a Muslim group?

have been found to work. Halloween is one of those occasions. With the focus on the children, it simply begs to be used and thousands of soul winners have recognized the opportunity to drop a powerful gospel tract into the kids' bags along with the candy.

This is the one chance of the whole year to evangelize your whole neighborhood at once. Many have written Chick Publications tracing their introduction to the gospel back to a tract in their trick-or-treat bags.

Sometimes, soul winners are reluctant to hand tracts to children, fearing that the parents might object. Tim Berends, whose goal is 300 tracts a day given out on the streets of Las Vegas, Nevada, decided long ago to take the risk. "I was saved at five years old. My father used a gospel tract to explain why I needed a Savior. The tract was hard to read but it had a picture that I never forgot. It showed a sailor in the bottom of the sea tied down with an anchor. On the anchor was the word 'SIN.'

"He explained that everyone needed a Savior from their sin and I gave my heart to Jesus. Right away, I went out to my sister, one year younger, who was climbing a tree. I told her she needed to get saved and took her to my dad. So she got saved the same day."

"I look at children on the Las Vegas Strip and think that, if they have reached the age of accountability they will go to hell if they don't get saved. So I give them a tract, anyway.

Occasionally the parents will refuse me, but I usually say, 'Be sure you show this Does your church have a Spanish Minsistry?

If so, they probably buy Spanish Bibles to give to new converts. Many Christian workers are unaware that the popular RV 1960 Spanish Bible contains many modernistic, critical readings that actually change doctrine! Debate is heating up as more Christians become aware of shortcomings in their Spanish Bibles. This book gives the history of the Spanish Bible and explains the simple reasons the RVG 2010 is the Bible they can trust!

This book contains:

- A 44-page chart comparing differences between the RVG 2010 and other popular Spanish Bibles
- The 8 reasons why the president of a Bible society recommends the RVG 2010
- The history of the ten-year effort behind this revision of the beloved RV 1909
- Why this is NOT a translation of the English KJV
- The background and testimony of the revisor heading up the project — Humberto Gómez
- Endorsements and reasons why many Spanish pastors and missionaries trust the RVG 2010

When Sin Becomes Legal...

When sin becomes legal, all kinds of things go wrong. When we started killing babies about 50 years ago, few realized how badly we would need those people around, working and contributing to the economy. Social Security and Medicare would have all that income to support the present generation.

Another sin now “legal” is sodomy. When we invited this demon into our midst, we unleashed a huge threat to our freedoms. Quickly controlling our entertainment community, it pumped its perverted lifestyle directly into our living rooms wooing our children into this abomination. Studies show that over 70 percent of our high school students see nothing wrong with “gay” marriage.

Privacy Laws Protect Sin

Complex privacy laws were forced on the business community to protect HIV-infected sodomites. These require reams of paper for “privacy policy” notices and extra labor and equipment costs to administer them. Yet under ObamaCare, sodomites and abortionists have succeeded in getting HIV infection and abortion history exempted from the health databases that are supposed to make medical care more efficient.

Colleges Protect Sin

For Bible believers, the threat to our freedom to witness and stand for the gospel is now under attack. At Augusta State University in Georgia, Jennifer Keeton was told that she could not graduate from the marriage counseling program until she gave up her Christian beliefs that sodomy was a sin. At the Hastings Law School in Berkeley, California, The Christian Legal Society student club was barred from campus for refusing to accept open sodomites as club voting members and leaders.

Boy Scouts Attacked

In Philadelphia (City of Brotherly Love), the Boy Scouts have, for 70 years, used a building built and paid for by the Scouts but sitting on city land, for their local council headquarters, and pay only a token for rent. Because the Scouts refuse to admit sodomites as scoutmasters, homosexual city leaders sued and the case was decided by a jury in June that they should not be evicted or have to pay hundreds of thousands of dollars in rent.

Since the Supreme Court decided that it was okay for the Boy Scouts to “discriminate” in that way, their financial support has been under relentless attack. On the other hand the Girl Scouts gave in without a fight and now some have estimated that one-third of their top leaders are lesbian.

Judges Protect “Gay Rights”

As in Philadelphia, this demon has succeeded in placing activists at high levels of government, business, “Christian” denominations, and public service organizations. In California, an openly sodomite judge has just thrown out an amendment to the state constitution against “gay” marriage cancelling two votes by the people.

When we see the definitions change, we need to worry. For example, sodomites used to have a different sexual “preference.” Now it is “orientation,” that they were born with, taking the choice out of it. This gives them the

New NIV Revision to Correct ‘Mistakes’

The Biblica Bible Society (formerly International Bible Society) announced that it will release a revision of the New International Version of the Bible in 2011. Since the original release of the NIV in 1978 there have been several “revisions:” the Today’s New International Version (TNIV) the New International Version Inclusive (NIVI) using gender neutral language, the New International Reader’s Version (NIRV) and other variations such as the “Adventure Bible for Early Readers.”

They claim that the mistakes were primarily in handling the public relations when they released the new versions. But the Committee on Bible Translations (CBT), responsible for “updating” the text, claims they have “1200 changes to the text” waiting to be incorporated into the 2011 release.

There are two basic “rules of the game” in Bible translating. One simply tries to find a word in the new language that means the same as the word in the original language. This is known as “literal equivalence.”

Sometimes the two languages do not have identical words, so the translators

Another had a smaller box with dividers labeled with the different languages. Still another put them in alphabetical order in bags with the stapled edge sticking out where the language is printed. He would thumb through them until he found the right language.

Another fanned a handful of tracts like playing cards and asked if the person recognized any of the languages. When you have a tract in their native language, their surprise guarantees that they will take it—and you have delivered the gospel again.

However, this push to make her “Mother of the World,” is not new. It was started in the 1020s. When a pope gets the word from the “spirit” to proceed, she will push Jesus aside in some of His most basic roles: Redeemer, Advocate and Mediator.

As Mother of the World, she will have three essential new roles: co-redemptrix, mediatrix of all graces, and advocate. This simply means that she will share Christ’s role as redeemer; she will be in charge (mediator) of who receives God’s grace (favor); and she, as our advocate instead of Christ, will argue our case before God’s Throne of Judgment. But the Bible says that there is “one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man, Christ Jesus.” (See 1 Timothy 2:5.) Mary as mediator is blasphemy, ignoring the clear statement of scripture.

Christ, being sinless, could bear our sin, redeeming us on the cross. By making Mary sinless, they can then claim that her pain while watching Him die also contributes to our redemption.

The scripture that is twisted to “support” this “Mother-of-the-World” tradition, is taken from Christ’s statement on the cross to the disciple, John: “Behold thy mother!” From the context, it is obvious that Jesus is placing his mother under the care of John, since He knew He was no longer going to be available. Nowhere later in the Bible do the disciples appear to have understood this otherwise.

This is a mind-boggling stretch to use this scripture to place Mary as the Mother in charge of all mankind. But this is another little instance where the King James Version gets it right and most of the modern versions fumble.

When you decode the KJV classic English, you find that “ye” is plural, while “thy” is singular. There is no way Jesus was talking about the whole world. “Behold thy mother” is clearly directed toward one person, not more than one, much less the whole world. If He had meant more than one, He would have used the plural, “your.” The “your” in the modern versions muddle this since “your” can mean one or many, opening the door to placing Mary in charge of the world.

This move to continue making the humble Mary into a pagan goddess only proves that Revelation 17, 18 and 19 is right calling the Vatican a whore, a prostitute “church.”

Bible believers need to lovingly point out these unbiblical “dogmas” to the precious Roman Catholics who depend on the pope to get them into heaven.

Mosque in your town?...

BERENDS: Well, first of all, God loves Muslims. Christ's attitude was deep compassion for the multitudes, without shepherds, deceived by the unscriptural traditions of the Pharisees, and hungry for spiritual truth. Muslims expect a confrontation, but are disarmed by someone who obviously has an unconditional love for them as individuals.

BC: Instead of a love for Muslims, why do most Christians fear them?

BERENDS: It is scary scenario. There are over a billion Muslims in the world and their book, the Qur'an, tells them they need to take over the world for Allah. Their plan is working in the local neighborhoods of the Western World. A Muslim charity provides money to build a mosque or worship center. Muslim families purchase houses around the worship center.

BC: Churches are more likely to see the threat rather than the opportunity.

BERENDS: Absolutely. The threat is there, but trying to stop them by law won't work. The only way is by winning them to Christ. Then they will give up the jihad idea and see that obedience to the God of the Bible is the better path. They will learn about a loving God who tells us how to have true peace. There is no true peace and unconditional love in the Muslim world.

BC: I read that, 50 years ago, the leaders of Islam would not advise Muslims to come to America for fear they would become Christians. It appears that has changed.

BERENDS: Sadly, yes. Today, our churches are not a serious threat to Islam. But a church can turn that around by training soul winners to witness to Muslims.

BC: What techniques do you suggest?

BERENDS: First pray until you have Christ's compassion for the precious Muslim people. It's got to break your heart: the 5-a-day prayer rituals, the bondage of the women, the abuse in the families. When witnessing, I see the women in full length burkas on a sweltering day with men in short sleeve shirts. I see men on the streets abusing their wives and children, just like in the tract, Is Allah Like You?

My goal is to get a tract into their hand. I give them a warm smile, say As Salamu Alaykum, "peace be upon you" in Arabic. When they ask about the tract, I tell them, "It is our love letter to you." If they ask if I am a Muslim, I say, "No. But I love the Muslim people."

I usually wear a t-shirt with "I (heart) Muslims" on the front and "John. 9:35-38" on the back. If my attitude is friendly and compassionate, they will seldom refuse the tract.

If they come back to talk about it, I point out that they call us "the people of the book," that the Qur'an calls Jesus a prophet, that prophets never lie, and Jesus said in John 9:35-38 that He is God.

I stress that Jesus showed love to everyone; but Muhammad killed a lot of people and wasn't even sure, himself, that he would go to paradise. Why follow a man like that?

to your parents.' That way they know that it's not porn." Statistics have shown that the number of people who accept Jesus falls off sharply after early teens. For a 70-year-old to get saved is very rare. So, we need to reach them as early as possible and Tim Berends' testimony proves that it can be done.

It was a picture that stuck in his mind and effectively communicated the gospel. Chick Publications has received many testimonies of people who first understood the gospel through the illustrations in Chick tracts.

Years later, they cannot get the picture out of their mind of the angel dropping the person over the cliff into the flames below. It becomes a powerful force pushing them to accept Jesus.

Do we, like Tim Berends, look at children and think about their eternal destiny? The witches and goblins who show up at our door on Halloween provide us a golden opportunity to introduce them to Jesus.

But what about the rest of the year? Do we watch for other ways to get tracts to them? In today's pagan culture, you might be their only opportunity for the rest of their lives to hear the good news.

Current tracts available for Halloween include titles for different ages: Best Friend, Little Ghost, Little Princess and Stinky for the younger ones; and Happy Halloween, Boo, Some Like It Hot, and Bewitched for the teens.

I have just returned from Mongolia and we had 62 nomads saved and baptized two weeks ago. This mostly is because of the gospel tracts you put out. T.T., TN

Missionary Finds:

Tracts Open Up Homes for the Gospel

Missionaries around the world find Chick tracts greatly expand their ministry. Missionary to Mexico Arland Strong is one example. Linda Ivins attends Bible Baptist Church in Sapulpa, Oklahoma. Missionary Strong visited her church recently and told how he uses Chick tracts in Mexico. Linda sent us a CD of his message.

Considering them “more precious than gold,” teams from his churches place only 15 tracts at a time in homes in the community. A few days later they will revisit each home and ask if the people liked the tract. Usually the answer is an enthusiastic “yes!”

Then they ask if they can come in and better explain the message. So many invite them in that this follow-up has become a full-time job for the teams. The tracts provide a vital way to introduce the church to the community. “I do not know how many are in our churches as the result of this method,” says Strong.

Linda remembers how she got started helping Strong: “One year ago, this dear, elderly, white-haired missionary to Mexico, who has faithfully won countless souls to Christ and planted many churches for the last 40 years, visited our church, which has supported him for many years.

“After the service, I pulled out my Chick tract stash from my purse and asked him if he would be interested in these in Spanish. He lit up and said, ‘Oh, yes! I have a particular witnessing plan using This Was Your Life, Hi There!, Creator or Liar?, and Somebody Goofed. We have great success with those!’

“So after that, I tried to supply him monthly with as many as I could afford. He’d call me and say that 30 were saved with this last batch, or whatever number; but every time, it was between 28 and 38. I soon realized this man needed more. So I prayed to God to help me, if it’s His will, to send him 10,000.”

Linda enlisted the help of another church member and eventually the church took up an offering to complete the order. Strong testified how the tracts were used so prayerfully and the much fruit they had produced for the kingdom.

Many other missionaries in almost every corner of the world have used Chick tracts, available in over 100 languages, to spark interest in the gospel. They have found that the engaging stories and Bible verses soften the attitude of resistance to the message of salvation through Jesus Christ.

If you wish to help the missionaries who are supported by your church, send them to our web site at www.chick.com to read the tracts available in the language of their field. When you purchase the tracts, Chick Publications will ship them directly to your missionaries.

same “civil rights” as black people with protection against “discrimination.”

Philadelphia’s “anti-discrimination” policies dragged the Scouts into court. Hastings used the same “policies” to ban the Christian Legal Council and the Christian university students’ view that sodomy is sinful is also considered unlawful “prejudice.”

Now, we are beginning to hear “freedom of worship” instead of “freedom of religion.” China and Russia have “freedom of worship” if you do it inside a government approved “church” building. None of this “disturbing the peace” with public tract passing and street preaching.

The “night” that Jesus spoke of will come to America unless we have another “great awakening” of revival. Most revivals were triggered by widespread distribution of literature. Many have discovered that Chick tracts get read and win souls. Surely, if enough gospel literature was gotten out today, we could get the same results. But we must do it soon.

GOT FRIENDS WITH QUESTIONS?

HERE ARE ANSWERS

Most of us have friends or family members tied in to religious cults, like Roman Catholicism, Mormonism or the Watchtower Society (Jehovah's Witnesses). We want to see them find peace in Christ but don't always know the best way to answer their questions.

These books by Thomas Heinze provide answers. Not only will they help you respond to the objections of your friends or loved ones, but they are written in such a gentle way that you can even give them to the person connected with these cults, knowing you won't offend them.

may use more than one word to get the exact meaning across. However, their goal is still to get a translation that literally says what the original said.

To the average buyer of Bibles, this seems the way it “ought to be.” He will assume he is going to get God’s words. After all, the Bible is the Bible, isn’t it??

Unfortunately, there is another philosophy of Bible translation that uses different rules. It is called “dynamic equivalence.” Now, anything that is “dynamic” is something that moves around a lot. And when you take a close look at the dozens of new translations that have used this “dynamic” approach, it sure is a moving target. Instead of looking for a new word just like the one in the old translation, they form an opinion about what they think the old word means and then look for a way to explain it “today’s” words.

Trying to adapt the Bible language to “modern” words, is like juggling. You better keep moving or your act will crash. The NIV’s “dynamic” dance over the last 30 years proves the point. When writers of Sunday school and teaching material quote the NIV they have to include the version date or someone will think they misquoted it.

Wouldn’t it be better to have a Bible that has not changed in 400 years? One you could memorize and be confident it won’t change during your lifetime? One that doesn’t need a standing “committee” to keep it up to date?

One translated by the most qualified men ever assembled for such a job? One that was the central inspiration for every significant revival in the Western World? One that guided America to become the most blessed nation ever known? One that has been translated into hundreds of native languages by thousands of missionaries?

But to have such a Bible, you must stretch your mind to learn a few hundred new words and face ridicule for believing that this “literal” Bible is exactly what God wanted English speaking people to know. But, you don’t have to worry that your Bible will change wordings and meanings every few years.

Satan hates this Bible that has stood the test of time: the Authorized King James Version. To learn the less familiar words in the KJV, get a copy of David W. Daniel’s little booklet, The King James Bible Companion.

Muslims Praying in New York City

A MESSAGE FROM JACK CHICK...

Dear ones in Christ,

Wow! Are we ever living in wild times. Everything is pointing to the coming of the Beast (anti-Christ). And our politicians are unknowingly clearing the path for him. Already, it is sometimes difficult to tell whether some of our troops are under U.S. or United Nations' command.

Our "gay" community is flexing its muscles, passing laws, controlling politicians, and trying to silence pastors who reveal what God thinks of their lifestyle. It seems no one will stop this steam roller. I'm sure the Beast will back them. (See Daniel 11:37.) The "gays" are on the offensive worldwide. We're seeing the days of Noah and Lot all around us.

War in the Middle East is about to explode. Opposition to the Roman Catholic institution is fading. Our Christian big wheels are quietly double-crossing Bible believers by pulling them into the arms of the pope.

The world is looking for a one-world leader and ready to take control of everything is good, old, Pope Benedict XVI. Didn't President George W. Bush look in the pope's face and say that he saw "God?"

Where-oh-where did the "Protestants" go? They're going back to Rome!!

Thank God we've still got godly pastors and faithful missionaries who haven't compromised. They are standing in the gap as the storm clouds keep getting darker.

Beloved, we don't have much time left to win souls. God is blessing us with tracts that make an impact worldwide. Please use them, pass them to neighbors, relatives and the unsaved. Soon you won't be able to. Read what it says in Ezekiel 3:18-21, then order some tracts. Use them by inserting them when paying bills. There's lots of ways to reach the lost. We just have to be brave and obey the Lord.

God bless you,

Jack
