

Europe is in Convulsions

For decades, country after country in Europe has ignored God, believing Satan's lies of evolution, security and prosperity through socialism, happiness through material wealth, salvation and utopia through education, and peace through tolerance.

Long ago sins such as abortion, sodomy, pornography and prostitution were legalized. The people have transferred their trust from God to the government. Now, they are facing the unexpected consequences.

The pope is watching, determined to use the crisis to Rome's advantage. Muslim leaders see an opportunity to plant Sharia (Islamic law) in new territory in their new drive to conquer the world for Allah. Marxist governments can no longer deliver the security as promised and are scrambling to avoid rioting in the streets.

Are We Losing the Next Generation?

The major challenge for Christian leaders and soul winners today is the younger generation. A recent survey by Christian pollster, George Barna, found that there was a lot of dialog about spiritual things going on among young people, but after age 13, little change happened. And the conditioning before 13 has changed radically in the last generation.

Other research by Barna paints a disturbing picture. He claims to have found "a new generation more skeptical of and resistant to Christianity than were people of the same age just a decade ago." Among Bible-believing missionaries have struggled for decades in Europe's spiritual wasteland with little fruit. Now, it appears that even the freedom to continue witnessing there may be in jeopardy. The following articles detail how Europe got in this fix, and how America is far down the same path. Bible believers must wake up to the danger and get busy or our religious freedoms will be extinguished by the same darkness.

Pope Visits U.K., Pitches Return to Mother Church

The pope's recent visit to the United Kingdom was met with mixed reaction. The wide abuse of adolescent boys by the sodomite priests is still an open wound. Cases are still trudging through the courts. Street protests faulted the pope for his foot-dragging on this issue.

The pope's beatification of John Henry

Newman during his visit also rankled with those who remember that he, as a turncoat, led 800 people into Catholicism when he "converted" from protestant to Roman Catholic.¹

The Vatican has hated Great Britain for over 500 years, ever since the Reformers ripped England from the pope's clutches.

Muslims Demanding That Holland Abandon Freedom of Speech

Further evidence of Europe's decadence is found in a Dutch court where a legislator elected by the people is being tried for intolerance.

Geert Wilders is head of a rapidly growing party of citizens deeply concerned over the invasion of Islam in Europe. In spite of multiple death threats, Wilders has boldly exposed the Muslim agenda of infiltration and takeover of the nation. His party now holds 24 of the 150 seats in the Dutch Parliament.

In 2009, the Parliament modified a law providing fines and prison time for anyone "who publicly, verbally or in writing or image, deliberately expresses himself in anyway insulting of a group of people because of their race, their religion or belief."

With this bold stroke

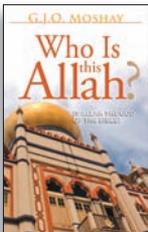

they capitulated to the demands of their increasingly powerful Muslim population and cancelled freedom of speech in that country.

Europe May Be Ready for the True Gospel

One of the tragic results of Europe's slide into spiritual malaise is the effect on its young people. Reports out of England show a generation who "consider Christianity irrelevant to their lives." So concluded a recent survey. The dominant focus of the generation born after 1982 "was more likely to put their faith in friends, their family or themselves, than in

Does your church have a Spanish ministry?

If so, they probably buy Spanish Bibles to give to new converts. Many Christians are unaware that the RV 1960 Bible contains many modernistic, critical readings that actually change doctrine! Debate is heating up as more Christians become aware of shortcomings in their Spanish Bibles. This book gives the history of the Spanish Bible and explains the simple reasons why the RVG 2010 is the only Bible you can trust.

This book contains:

- A 30-page chart comparing the RVG 2010 to other Spanish Bibles.
- The 8 reasons why the president of a Bible society recommends the RVG 2010.
- The history of the ten-year effort behind this revision of the beloved RV 1909.
- Why this is NOT a translation of the KJV.
- The background and testimony of the revisor heading up the project, Humberto Gómez.
- Reasons why so many Spanish pastors and missionaries trust the RVG 2010.

the government was legalizing the sins of abortion and sodomy the church seemed asleep. But it goes much further back than these recent events.

Two DVDs have surfaced that attempt to connect the dots in history behind the rot in our culture. One is a detailed history of the Bible and how, even today, all the popes have conspired to deny access to the Truth. As soon as this prostitute church got enough power, she tried to burn every copy of God’s words. Stymied by the Reformation, she now plots to supplant it with “modern versions” based on polluted manuscripts. This DVD, entitled A Lamp in the Dark, spends three intriguing hours detailing the running battle over the centuries to put God’s Words into the hands of the common man. It finishes by exposing the involvement of the Jesuits in giving us bibles with changed, contradictory, and missing verses to destroy our trust that we really have God’s Words. How can a church influence the culture when it is not sure it can trust its Bible?

The other DVD is called, Agenda. When Jesus said that Satan was the father of lies, we should have paid more attention. A careful look at the political and cultural mess we are in exposes a whole host of these lies

Immigration: Soul Winner’s Opportunity

The raging debate on immigration is new to the U.S. Never before have Americans raised serious objections about people wanting to come here. The plaque on the Statue of Liberty said it all: “Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free...” This year’s census found nearly 38 million immigrants in the country with an estimated 11.9 million here illegally.

In a way, we are all immigrants, or descendants of immigrants. All came here looking for the opportunities that freedom provides. Many discovered that the gospel was the foundation of that freedom and accepted Christ’s incredible free gift. Others worked hard to hinder the gospel and now our freedoms are in jeopardy.

America’s founding fathers foresaw the risk. They openly and repeatedly declared that the government that they established would not survive without “virtue” in the common people. They knew well that scripture, “Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people” (Proverbs 14:34).

And they knew that righteousness (virtue) came only through preaching of the gospel and diligent instruction in the Bible. They provided tax breaks and other benefits to encourage churches to do this.

Their vision was that, immigrants would come, learn the language, work hard and be won to Christ. Thus, America would remain the “shining city on a hill” showing to the world the good life that comes from obedience to the God of the Bible.

Somewhere, the churches neglected their part of this plan. Fifty years ago, Muslim leaders discouraged their people from moving to America, fearing they would be lost to the gospel. Roman Catholic leaders in Latin America kept their people in superstition and ignorance until the

In the midst of the Reformation, England produced the King James Bible that broke the yoke of superstition and ignorance that popery had held over Europe for the thousand-year-long “dark ages.” That same Reformation spawned the New World which God prospered to fulfill the prophecy that the Gospel would be preached to all nations. Until the beginning of the 20th century, Britain was a fountainhead of world missionary activity. As God prospered the United States, the gospel also began to also flow from it around world.

But the devil’s lies also began to spread. These lies originated in Europe by men who refused the gospel during the Reformation. Determined to avoid any dealings with their Creator, they bought into the lies of evolution, atheism, humanism, socialism, materialism, tolerance for sin, etc. Thus, in the last hundred years, Britain has followed Europe into this spiritual desert.

that he was the “successor to the Apostle Peter,” and that unity of the church “...can never be other than a unity in the apostolic faith.” In other words, since Jesus made Peter the first pope, (a perversion of Matt. 16:13-19), Benedict, as his successor, is now in charge of the church on the earth, including all those rebellious “separated brethren” (Protestants). And, to accomplish the unity that Jesus prayed for in John 17, everyone must come, bow to the pope and kiss his ring in submission.

Any pope making such outrageous claims a hundred years ago would have been ridden out of London on a rail. Instead, British royalty threw open the doors to Parliament and gave him a bully pulpit in Westminster Abby, seat of the (Protestant) Anglican denomination.

He strode triumphantly over the hallowed spots where hundreds of the Reformation leaders were tied to posts and torched to death by the popes’ inquisitors. And the national media made sure the glory of his every move was covered over and over again for the populace.

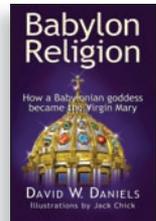

Vatican leaders know that, if they can woo Britain back to Rome, Europe is theirs. Last year, when the lies of Anglican/Episcopal people were in heated dispute over their new sodomite bishops, the pope rolled out the welcome mat to any of them who wished to “come back to Mother Church,” even including married priests. The Vatican is officially against homosexuality, but her priesthood is riddled with sodomite priests.

Having dumped the Bible, Europeans are now at the mercy of Satan’s wolves. And the pope is only one of them. See adjacent article on Islam.

RV 1960 Polluted with Roman Catholic Flavor

One of the main areas of concern by the translators of the Reina-Valera-Gómez Spanish Bible was the shift toward Roman Catholic doctrine found in the Reina-Valera 1960 version and other modern versions such as the Spanish translation of the NIV, the NVI, and the LBA, the Spanish NASB. In the Appendix of Emanuel Rodriguez's book, God's Bible in Spanish: How God Preserved His Words in Spanish Through the RVG, he lists several verses where obedience is substituted for believing. In John 12:47 Jesus said that if anyone hear

His words and "believe not," KJV, ("no cree" RVG), will be judged. The RV 1960 says "does not keep them" (no las guarda,). The LBA also uses "keep," (guarda) but the NVI uses "obedece" (obey). Both "keep" and "obey" are entirely different from

If Wilders is convicted, others in Europe and America worry that it will chill free speech in the rest of the Western World. Even if other countries do not have such laws, they do have an increasingly belligerent Muslim population and many will become reluctant to speak out.

Others sounding the alarm about the Islamization of the West have also not fared well. In 2004, Theo Van Gogh, producer of a video criticizing Islam, had his throat slit by a radical Muslim who was obeying orders (fatwa) from Islamic leadership to take him out. Ayaan Hirsi Ali, an associate of Van Gogh and former Dutch parliamentarian had to flee to lawed the wearing of burqas in public. Belgium is voting on such a law. Last year, 60% of the Swiss voted to ban all minarets on mosques in the country.

In every country, a growing number of people are becoming concerned about Islam's stated goal of making, not just Europe, but the whole world subject to Allah.

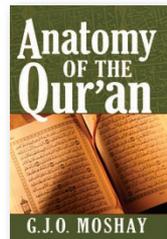

Because the Muslims in some of the countries have reached 20 percent or more of the population, they are gaining political clout and demanding adherence to the Sharia, Islam's Qur'an-based system of tyranny and pagan customs.

Thus they are on track toward their stated goal of installing this 7th century tribal code of living upon the whole world.

Where they lack the power to install it by force, they are using infiltration of our "multicultural" societies to gain control. France recently out-

God.” On rare occasions during an illness or loss of friend or family member, they might think about God, even consider a private prayer. But most of the time, “Religion and spirituality was irrelevant for day-to-day living.”

They were not looking for answers to ultimate questions about life’s purposes or the existence of God. When they did think about God all they had to refer to was a “very faded, inherited cultural memory of Christianity.”

The research did indicate less hostility to religion and Christianity than the previous generation. They were generally just “...quite content with the situation, happy to get by with what little they knew about the Christian faith.” The common assumption that the young people were alienated from their parents and hostile to religion is a holdover from the 1960s and 70s generation.

This picture can only be the result of decades of unbiblical teachings and secular influences. America should take a close look at this. Europe has been at the effort of eliminating God from the culture longer than we have, so these results should tell us where this road leads.

We can only hope that we take the lesson seriously. However, unless the true church wakes to the opportunity, it will not last. Besides the wake-up call to soul winners in this country to get busy living out the Great Commission, this news presents a missionary challenge.

If these British young people are typical of the rest of Europe, then there is a generation that is ripe for “instruction in righteousness.” The accompanying articles detail how the pope sees this vacuum and is maneuvering to fill it with his prostitute church’s false gospel of pagan rituals and spiritual bondage. A close look at the “dark ages” when Rome ruled Europe in ignorance and superstition, shows where that road leads.

Already firmly planted in the middle of this vacuum is the 7th century tribal religion of Islam diligently promoting another false gospel. If we follow that path to its destination, we end up in Taliban country, where women are little more than sex slaves and revenge and honor killings are the order of the day.

We are reminded of another golden opportunity that the church missed at the end of World War II, when General Douglas MacArthur appealed in vain to the American church for a thousand missionaries to lead the disillusioned Japanese ancestor worshippers into the freedom of the true gospel.

The devil knows all about this vacuum, this European field “white unto harvest.” Is the true church willing to field enough laborers to reap this harvest?

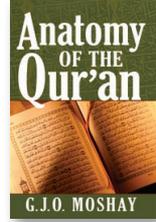

One way you can help is to locate one of the few missionaries struggling in Europe and fill his hands with “paper missionaries,” powerful, no-nonsense gospel tracts designed to puncture the spiritual stupor of these young people. Or you may send your donation to Chick Missions Fund.

Unfortunately, we are unable to issue a tax deductible receipt. However, 100 percent of your gifts are used to purchase and ship literature to missionaries.

If you make the donation through your church, you can often get a receipt to use for tax purposes.

Satan has lulled them to sleep with his most effective lies. Only the drawn Sword of the Spirit, the Word of God can back him off.

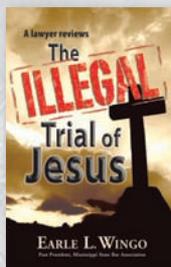

And also, we better get to work here at home or we will soon succumb to those same lies.

U.S. prosperity became an overwhelming magnet, drawing them across our southern borders. Now, instead of being won to our righteousness, many turn to crime to obtain the prosperity they seek.

U.S. government leaders are in a quandary what to do. Their campaign over the last dozen decades to discredit the Biblical lifestyle has helped destroy the one solution to the immigration problem.

What should Christians do now?

Whatever the government does, soul winners are the key they are looking for. We still have our one obligation: "go ye into all the world..." That world starts at our doorstep. If the mission field has come to us, is that any different than reaching them in foreign lands?

The only difference is that it is easier to take a tract to our next door neighbor or to an "illegal" in a local prison. In the end, they all come looking for a better life, even if their way of getting it is through crime. They all need Jesus.

Chick Publications makes every effort to provide literature in whatever language is needed. Spanish, especially, is foremost. Almost every new title in English is released in Spanish at the same time.

Working with missionaries on the foreign fields, we have at least one title in over 100 different languages.

Now the people who speak these languages have come to us. While there are over 150 languages spoken in the U.S., the 100 that we have in tract form cover the majority of them.

Whether you encounter a neighbor who needs the gospel or a foreign missionary visiting your church, the language they need is probably listed on our web site: www.chick.com. We stock copies of the most common languages. See web site for custom printing of other titles.

But when I finally got saved for certain about five years later, the Lord brought that tract back to mind and it finally made total sense. And ironically, I now run a creation science ministry. God does have a sense of humor.

Partly to blame is a major shift in the general culture. Barna has documented the fact “that without much fanfare or visible leadership, the U.S. has created a moral system based on convenience, feelings, and selfishness.” This new “moral system” resulted when we allowed the public school system to shift from Bible-based instruction to teaching evolution, self-esteem, human potential, and glorification of decadent celebrities instead of emphasis on heroes of faith and history.

Families also were distracted away from family altars to the convenience of entertainment piped directly into the living room.

Throughout history, when “entertainment” became the focus of a culture, the themes of the shows ramped up the thrill factor by increasingly sinful displays. Remember the Romans who ended up “entertained” by feeding the Christians to the lions?

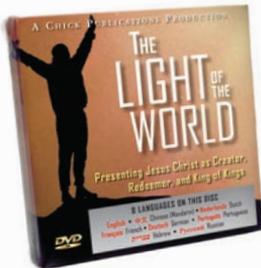

For soul winners, Barna’s research is especially challenging. Concern for the Great Commission has plummeted: “The drop in personal evangelism among born again Protestant teens is even more striking, dropping from 72% in 1997 to 53% in late 2009.” Witnessing and making disciples was the primary charge that Jesus gave us to do when He left.

This does not bode well for the future of the church in America. Failure to carry out God’s mission usually precipitates judgment. God has not been in the habit of prospering nations who are in rebellion, or even indifferent to Him. Already, we see significant disruptions in our economy caused by corruption (sin) in high places.

In addition, infiltration by unbiblical groups such as Islam, secular human-

Paul told the Thessalonians that those who refused God’s truth would be given a strong delusion. Usually this “delusion” comes in the form of “another gospel,” one that will bring salvation without benefit of God’s help. In the past hundred years, billions of people have bought into the “other gospel” of Marxism in one way or another. Their trust has been placed in the “state” instead of their Creator.

In the Old Testament, Israel’s first step into idolatry was to move their trust from the Lord to some pagan idol. As we look back on the history of the Western World, including America, we see a steady gravitation of trust away from the “Providence” that our Founding Fathers relied on to the idols of evolution, human potential, self-esteem, welfare, government entitlements, “nanny state,” etc.

Agenda details how the modern Marxists (aka Socialists, aka progressives), laid out their goals for America several decades ago and how successful they have been in accomplishing them.

Their success presents a huge challenge to Bible believers. As we look around, we see a culture that has bought into a number of “other gospels.” Lost people are running all over the place chasing the false promises of Satan’s lies. Even churches and their members have bought into some of these with behavior just like the world.

In Romans 1:18, Paul speaks of God’s wrath on those “who hold the truth in unrighteousness.” We believers need to wake up to the massive attack on our culture by the peddlers of these “other gospels.” We need to get back to walking in holiness and sharing the true Gospel with all who will listen. These two DVDs can be powerful weapons in this fight.

ists, evolutionists, sodomites, and socialists are finding little resistance from the Bible believers. Former generations would have targeted people with these beliefs and shown them the Better Way.

Barna’s studies also show “that 16- to 29-year-olds exhibit a greater degree of criticism toward Christianity than did previous generations.” With a hostile news media, every bit of dirty laundry of the Church is displayed on every TV screen.

Bible-believing churches have failed to distance themselves from the cults of Catholicism, Mormonism, Jews, and the apostate “mainline” churches until we are all seen as “Christian.” Now, a generation that has grown up without Bible-based Sunday schools and confident preaching from a trusted Bible, declares: “Christianity in today’s society no longer looks like Jesus,” a common theme that Barna found in his research.

When God begins to squeeze a nation, there are two reactions: repentance or rebellion. Each heart has to make a choice. As soul winners, we cannot help the ones who choose stiff-necked rebellion. But we need to make sure we find those who wish to submit to their Creator and love them into the kingdom. When you present someone with a good gospel tract, for him it is decision time.

“believe,” reinserting salvation by works that Martin Luther and the other fathers of the Reformation fought Rome over.

Other evidence of this pollution appears in Romans 11:30-32 where “did not believe” (no creisteis) and “unbelief” (incredulidad) in the KJV and RVG were changed to “disobedient,” (desobedientes) in the RV 1960, LBA and NVI. (See also: Hebrews 3:18, 11:31, and Matt. 17:20.)

Oddly enough, even the older Reina-Valera versions, 1865 and 1909 use “incredulidad” (unbelief). This shows how the influence of the Vatican began to creep into the Spanish Bibles just as the English versions were beginning to change the same way.

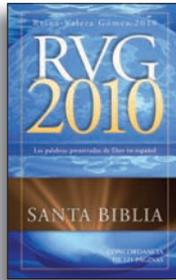

Some changes relate to the turning of Jesus’ mother, Mary, into the Virgin Mary goddess of Catholicism. In Isaiah 7:14, “a virgin (una virgen) shall conceive,” is changed to the virgin (la virgen). The Bible portrays Mary as just another virgin girl who was especially chosen for the task of bearing Jesus’ body. It was not through any special merit of her own that she was “highly favored.”

respond appropriately to each. If you ask any devout Roman Catholic: “who is the virgin?” he will likely point you to the idol statue of this goddess. This is only a small sample of the examples in the 40-page appendix of Rodriguez’s book where he “documents many of the important differences between the various Spanish Bible versions and demonstrates the purity and accuracy of the RVG text.” He compares the various readings of five of the popular Spanish Bibles with the KJV and the Reina-Valera-Gómez text.

It was not the intent of the team that created the RVG to translate a new version from the original Greek and Hebrew.

They saw that the versions of the RV done in the 20th century had been influenced by the same Critical Texts that polluted the English Bibles. So they chose the modern RV that had the least changes, the RV 1909, and compared it to the earlier RV editions, the manuscripts that were used to create the KJV, and the KJV itself. They strove to maintain the linguistic beauty and purity of the RV versions, only adjusting the readings that deviated from the Received Text stream.

They believe that the result is a return to the purity of God’s words preserved from the corrupting influences of the Alexandrian-Roman Catholic manuscripts. A MESSAGE FROM JACK CHICK...

Dear ones in Christ,

Years ago, when I worked as a tech illustrator in an aerospace company, we had a custom that, if it was your birthday, you had to go to the vending machine that was stacked with candy bars. There were two prices, 5 cents and 10 cents, (sounds ridiculous today). We would buy half 5 cent bars and half 10 cent bars.

When my birthday came, I bought 21 candy bars for my department. I handed them out, giving people a choice and were my eyes opened to greed like I couldn't believe. All the 10 cent bars vanished first, leaving the 5 cent ones. Only two were gracious enough to take the cheaper ones. I found out who were the opportunists.

Another way to find out is when someone in the family, who was running the show, dies. Watch the relatives scramble for goodies, usually causing hard feelings for years and some will never speak to each other the rest of their lives.

Well, to hit this subject pretty hard, our new tract is called Love That Money. It's funny but it's also tragic. Greed can keep us from spending time with God's word and in prayer. It can blind us to the lost people around us going to hell. It can destroy precious family relationships.

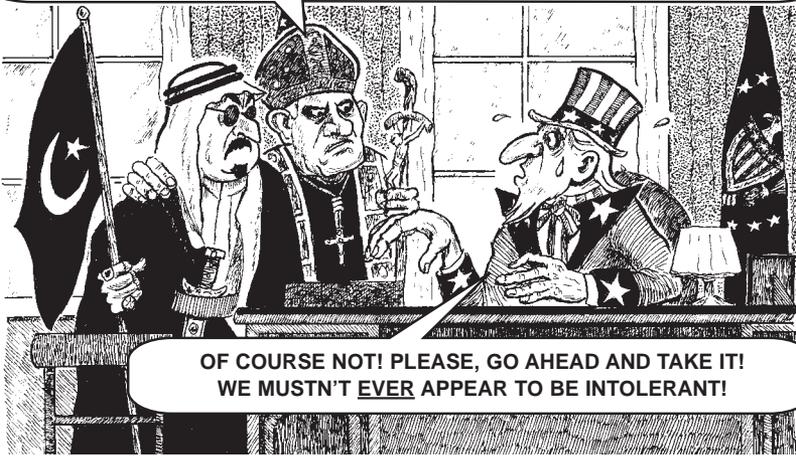

It can leave us very embarrassed at the judgment seat of Christ when the good and bad things in our lives are played back or even damn our souls. God loves a cheerful giver. Greed is sinful.

Read Love That Money and see how Mr. Bronson's life ends up. Wow! Don't let that happen to any of your relatives. Make sure they get a copy.

God bless you,

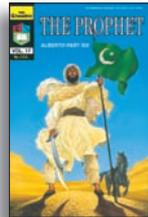

MY KID* WANTS TO SIT IN YOUR CHAIR...IS THAT A PROBLEM?

OF COURSE NOT! PLEASE, GO AHEAD AND TAKE IT!
WE MUSTN'T EVER APPEAR TO BE INTOLERANT!

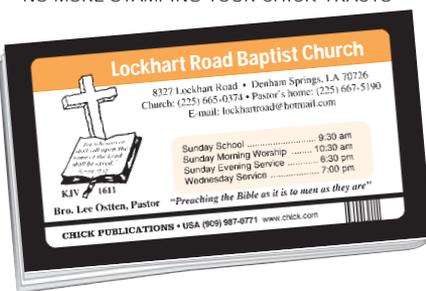

IT'S AN OFFER COWARDS CAN'T REFUSE
